this great Choctaw chief. They Visit Officials.

The delegation, which has been in Washington for about two weeks, first visited commissioner of Indian affairs, Cato Sells, Secretary Lane, and several congressmen, and were received Thursday by the President.

A beautiful array of beadwork and baskets, for which the Choctaws are noted, was brought by the chief to bestow upon officials.

Chief Wesley Johnson is accompanied on his mission here by Culbertson Davis and Emil John, whose Indian name is Ahojeobe, who represent the Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana Choctaw council, James E. Arnold attorney-in-fact, is also active in promoting legislation which will give the tribe its just dues.

This delegation has just completed its task of interviewing 385 members of congress in an effort to put their case before the federal government, having been denied a formal hearing by the house committee on Indian affairs.

"We left our families to come here for this purpose," concluded the chief. "It is a long, long journey, and we may not make it soon again. We must not leave anything undone which will bring the justice and the enlightenment which my people need."—Washington Times, Feb. 9.

REFINING AND CONDENSING PLANT

SHELBY DOWNARD ASPHALT CO. TO REFIN BY-PRODUCT AT THE MINES.

The Shelby Downard Asphalt Company, whose general offices are located in this city, and branch in Kansas City, have installed a refining and condensing plant for the manufacture of liquid asphalt flux at their mines 2 1/2 miles southwest of the city. The asphalt mined by the Downard companies has been used extensively in the states of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas and has proved of enduring worth and merit.

The fluxes, however, have in the past been purchased on the general market, but owing to the fact that uniformity of grade could not be absolutely guaranteed without having the manufacture directly under the control of the company, it was decided to erect a plant for the production of the asphaltic flux directly under the control of the company. This is done from the genuine asphaltic oils, which are found near the village of Wheeler.

This is practically a liquid bitumen and the fluxing material gotten from it has been carried on in the past by allowing the evaporation of the light oils, and Mr. Downard has arranged for the saving of this by a condensing plant, and the condensed lighter oil will be used for illuminating purposes and fuel. When this superior liquid asphalt is added to the rock asphalt, an asphaltic cement is obtained which the chemists pronounced to be far superior to anything ever produced either in this country or abroad. The melting point is way above ordinary temperatures, and the bitumen is 99.999 per cent pure.

This is a great stride forward in the Ardmore Asphalt industry as a superior pavement is obtained to any heretofore laid and the product is also cheaper by the economy of the process. The building of this plant has been the basis for rumors recently that a large oil refinery was about to be located at this point, and Mr. Downard has assured the representative of the Ardmoreite that he has no idea of embarking in the petroleum business, the demand for Ardmore Rock Asphalt being greater than he is able to supply.
